

COLT Workshops

Winter 2020

WALA 3230 The Evaluation of Learning

Instructors in this course will examine the practices that support the assessment and evaluation of learning. Participants will plan, construct, and utilize ethical assessment strategies and instruments appropriate to their context of their teaching. Capacity will be developed to examine the cultures and demonstration of learning with students, including Indigenous students, to support authentic assessment of the learning outcomes. This course transfers into the Provincial Instructors Diploma Program.

Treat Tuesdays

Start your Tuesdays with COLT – stop by COLT in Terrace (upstairs in the Longhouse) anytime from 9-11am on Tuesday mornings. This is a time for you to informally connect with us to share your stories and questions about teaching and learning. Coffee/tea and snacks are on us!

New Instructor Orientation

This workshop is intended for instructors and faculty that are new to CMTN or new to teaching (less than 2 years' experience). It will introduce you to resources integral to designing effective learning experiences, explore what CMTN's experiential place-based learning can look like in your class, and provide an opportunity for you to connect with colleagues across disciplines and campuses at CMTN.

Eat, Care, Grow: Intercultural Teaching

For continued growth in intercultural teaching and learning, these sessions will use the structure and previous assessments from the Intercultural Development Inventory. The focus is to help cultivate transformative learning that will enable more effective approaches to indigenization and intercultural teaching and learning.

COLT Presents ...

This series of workshops will introduce you to areas of the college beyond your class that make things better for the learning in your courses (Think bacon!). 'COLT Presents' will connect you with key people in other departments like the Learning Assistance Specialist, Librarians, and others, so that you can enhance learning alongside the great team at CMTN!

Teaching Tools

A series of mini lunch workshops on various trades-specific instructional strategies. Just show up, grab a bite and leave with a new teaching tool.

Tech Bites (TB): In-service opportunities

We want to help you get to know the technologies in the classroom and the software available to help you help your students learn. Topics will include projectors, document readers, and software such as Brightspace and 0365.

Instructional Skills Workshop

The ISW is a full weekend (24 hours) workshop intended to focus on developing and refining teaching skills and face to face learning. The ISW will engage you in effective learning techniques and skills. Your time will be well spent practicing your instructional skills in a collaborative, supportive environment and is useful for any level of experience of instruction.

Pints & Pedagogy

Pints and Pedagogy is an hour set aside for faculty to unwind and share what they are doing in their classes. Come ready to share something new you recently tried and something you are thinking of trying. Non-drinkers are welcome! This is BYOB (Buy Your Own Beer) but COLT will buy appetizers as available.

Field School Instruction & Facilitation

A gathering for those who have taught in field schools and those who are curious, or are new to teaching field schools, to further discussions from our Fall meeting to inspire and resource better learning in field schools.

VC Tips & Tricks

Why is VC so great? Come and learn some tips and tricks to engage students, build community, assess, manage logistics, and teach effectively across a screen. Share with one another the things that work and troubleshoot solutions to the challenges.
